

The San Antonio Botanical Garden is a nonprofit organization founded in 1980. Since its inception, the Garden has been committed to enriching lives through plants and nature. A 38-acre urban oasis centrally located in the heart of San Antonio, the Garden has been nationally recognized for its commitment to outstanding displays, botanical diversity, education, environmental stewardship, and exhibitions that bring people and the natural world together.

A top San Antonio attraction, the Garden serves as a museum of plants, a tranquil escape, a living classroom, a research and conservation facility, and entertainment venue where art, architecture, music, and theater experiences come to life for 368,000 annual visitors, including 60,000 children.
